

TWO MILLION DOLLARS IS INVOLVED

Heir of Henry Dalton Claims a Portion of San Francisquita Ranch

TRUST DEED OF 1873 IS INVOLVED

Property is Bringing in Hundreds of Dollars Daily to Baldwin Estate

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—A suit for $2,000,000 against the estate of "Lucky" Baldwin was filed today in the Superior Court by Ella Dalton Plumber, an heir of Henry Dalton. The complaint alleges that in 1873 Dalton gave Louis Wolfskill, to whom it is alleged he was indebted, a trust deed to a portion of the San Francisquita ranch which Dalton owned. Later, it is alleged, Wolfskill gave Baldwin a trust deed to the same property. It alleges that the trust deed never was discharged. The Baldwin estate now derives hundreds of dollars a day income from this property.

FOOT BALL TOMORROW

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—Coach Dolan of the Aggies announced that but one of the regular backfield men would play tomorrow, on account of injuries. May, right tackle, developed an abscess on his back en route to Los Angeles, and will probably go to the hospital tonight. Occidental is in fair shape. Betting favors the locals.

The University of California Rugby team arrived today to meet the University of Southern California tomorrow. There is less interest in this game than in the Occidental-Oregon game, on account of the crushing defeat administered to Southern California by the Berkeley freshmen, and the fact that Coach Schaeffer has brought a team practically composed of the second team and the freshmen. Few Varsity men are included. Southern California is in excellent shape. Coach Manning predicts victory.

PASADENA, Nov. 27.—Long Beach and Pasadena high school teams will play tomorrow for the interscholastic American football championship of Southern California. It is reported today that if Pasadena wins an effort will be made to stage a Christmas game with Washington High, of Seattle, Northwestern champions.

Girl in Machine in Attempting to Jump Also Suffered Some Severe Bruises

Mrs. Winslow had one leg badly bruised and lacerated. Miss Amy Hunter of Santa Ana, who was in the machine sitting on Mrs. Dearing's lap, attempted to jump when the collision occurred, and she was thrown in such a manner that she received severe bruises. None of the injuries are serious.

Placentia Gets the First Reservation at Orange Show

New Town in Citrus Belt of Orange County Will Have Fine Exhibit

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 27.—Placentia, the new town in the citrus belt of Orange county, is the first to make a reservation of space for an exhibit.

Reservations were made for rack space for 150 boxes of fruit, for a table display and for room for a fine feature display.

Placentia already has a committee hard at work on the display which is to be made. It is their plan to make one of the finest feature exhibits in the entire show and they are getting into the game early so that they may have every detail worked out.

Last year Placentia came in at the latest moment, but even at that they made a splendid showing, but they promise that at the 1913 show they will put on a display that will attract much attention from the crowds of visitors.

While Bloomington has not yet selected the space for their display, it is known that the boosters of that community are already getting busy. They now hold the challenge sweepstakes cup and they know it is up to them to defend it, and they propose to do so.

MEXICAN REVOLT TAKING ON NEW LIFE

Gen. Ojeda Leads Troops South After Sleeping on Arms Till Dawn Today

MEN WILL TRY TO PREVENT UNION OF REBEL FORCES

Bloody Battle Fought Yesterday at Palomas Between Salazar and Blanco Rebels

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Nov. 27.—Probability of the immediate renewal of the Mexican revolutionary campaign on the U. S.-Mexican border was seen here today in the departure southward of 200 of the Federal garrison from Agua Prieta, General Ojeda commanding. The men slept on their arms last night and started at daylight.

It is reported that General Salazar's rebels and General Blanco's Federals engaged in a bloody battle near Palomas yesterday. No details have been received the rebel leaders, Rojas and Salazar, are attempting to join forces. It is believed that General Ojeda has been ordered to intercept them before they can unite.

THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY TO BE POWER

Noted Author Lauds Roosevelt as Foremost Man; Johnson Biggest Man in West

PASADENA, Nov. 27.—That the Progressive party is the coming great political power of the nation; that Theodore Roosevelt is still America's greatest citizen, despite his recent defeat for the presidency; that the Republican party is no more; that Hiram Johnson is the most popular man who ever came out of the west to preach political doctrines to "down-east" Yankees, and that Southern California is even a nearer replica of Paradise than its boosters claim, are the declarations of Winston Churchill, author, Progressive and twice candidate for governor of New Hampshire, who was a guest at one of Pasadena's big hostilities last night. Mr. Churchill reached this city yesterday afternoon. He departed for Santa Barbara today.

"The Progressive party passed through its infancy stage in the recent campaign," declared Mr. Churchill last evening in an interview. Apropos of the interview, it might be said that progressivism, politics in general, Theodore Roosevelt, Hiram Johnson and woman suffrage are the noted author's pet subjects. He refused to be interviewed by a half dozen newspaper men on anything else.

"In the next presidential campaign the Progressive and the Democratic parties will be the only real contenders," he said. "The Republican party is already on its last legs. The new party founded as an aftermath of the notorious Taft steal in Chicago has the younger blood of the nation as its foundation. It will triumph because it represents the real will of the people."

Johnson Popular in East

"Hiram Johnson is decidedly popular throughout the east. I believe he has the biggest following of any man who ever came out of the west. In regard to your governor, I want to predict that he will come mighty close to sitting in the presidential chair. He is one of the really strong men of the nation."

Continuing with politics as his pet subject, the author of "The Crisis," "The Inside of the Cup," "Richard Carvel," "The Crossing," and a half dozen other of America's "biggest sellers," declared that his own experiences in politics were mere recreation stunts. His recent defeat for the governorship of New Hampshire, he declares, was expected by him before he entered the race. Politics is merely a diversion from the more serious business of being an author, he says.

RECOGNIZED HIS NECKTIE AND COAT

R. J. Marston is Accused of Having Stolen Clothing from Room at Vendome

SAYS HE BOUGHT FROM UNKNOWN MAN

Went Into Restaurant Last Night and Waiter Immediately Hunted for Officer

R. J. Marston, who has been employed at the gas works, was arrested last night on a charge of burglarizing a room at the Vendome rooming-house. Marston has been living at the Allerton.

About a week ago a waiter at the Palace Restaurant named Stacey missed a coat, a pair of pants, an overcoat, a necktie and a shirt from his room at the Vendome. Last night Stacey was at work in the restaurant when Marston came in to get something to eat. Stacey immediately recognized the necktie and coat worn by Marston. He went to the city hall and found Officer Davenport, who returned with him to the restaurant.

Marston seemed to have become suspicious, for he went to his room, and when Stacey and the officer returned Marston was there with some of the stolen property, which he offered to Stacey, asking him if the property belonged to him.

Davenport wanted to know where Marston got the articles, and Marston said he got them from a man he did not know and whom he could not describe.

Davenport then took Marston to jail. Marston's relatives live in Los Angeles.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—The harvesting of the first rice crop in this section of the country is now in progress. Figures from the first three or four days of harvesting show that the crop will average about 5000 pounds to the acre.

R. R. ACCOUNTANTS FIGURING COST OF ADVANCE IN WAGES

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Railroad accountants will soon have before them the full text of the report of the board of arbitration in the engineers' wage controversy that it will be several days before they will be able to calculate exactly the cost to date of the award, or to estimate approximately the future cost.

From information at hand, however, it is certain that most of the estimates have been too high. If the increase requested by the engineers had been granted, the aggregate additional expense would have been somewhat in excess of $7,000,000 a year, yet it has been estimated that the amount would not be $7,000,000. That figure is too high by at least $5,000,000 for the award imposes little or any additional expense on the Pennsylvania and New York Central.

MRS. LESH FOUND NOT GUILTY OF MURDER

SEBASTIA, Mo., Nov. 27.—Under peremptory instructions from Judge Shain, the jury in the case of Mrs. Pansy Lesh gave a verdict of not guilty of the murder of Mrs. Quaintance. Mrs. Lesh was arrested in Los Angeles, where she confessed that she poisoned Mrs. Quaintance and Mrs. Coe. Prosecutor O'Bannon announced that he will file no information against the woman in the Coe case, and she will be given immediate freedom.

McMANIGAL INDIGNANTLY DENIES ACCUSATION THAT HE IS HIRED DETECTIVE

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 27.—The cross-examination of McManigal will probably end late today with his testimony unshaken. The witness' answers throughout the day to Senator Kern's examination for the defense were quick and lucid, and he stuck closely to all details recited in regard to the dynamitings he attributes to the Ironworkers' Union. He indignantly denied Kern's hypothetical charge that he is employed by a detective agency or accepted money from the National Erectors' Association. Cross-examination was interrupted to permit the introduction of testimony of Detroit witnesses in regard to explosions there. It is evident an attempt is being made to implicate Hockin.

Senator Kern announced that he will continue as counsel for the ironworkers accused of illegally transporting dynamite. This is believed to indicate that he will not report for the opening of Congress in December, as it is impossible for the case to close before then.

SHOULD ELECT OWN CAPTAINS MOTORCYCLE RACES GALORE

Christian Minister Says He Was Told Captain Ought Not to Be Popular

SAWTELLE, Nov. 27.—Following last night's session when it was testified that milk served to Soldiers' Home veterans contained water, and that the meal was wormy, J. B. Bell, a Christian minister and former member of the home, testified that Captain Carpenter of Company 1, told him he was requested to resign because he was too popular with the men. He said the captain told him he was informed by Adjutant Hogue that "a man cannot be popular with the men and be an efficient captain." The witness declared Carpenter was one of the first captains. Two hundred veterans in the audience applauded riotously. Senator Catron inquired: "Wouldn't these men get along better if permitted to elect their own captains?" Bell replied: "Infinitely better." The veterans again applauded.

Tomorrow is the day that the big motorcycle races are to be held at the Santa Ana race track. The match race between "Gufboat" Kittle and "Fearless" Rognon is the talk of the street, as several of the local fans have seen these men ride and know that there will be something doing in the speed line. There will be plenty of protection for spectators in the even dozen speed contests.

It is expected that there will be a club run from San Diego and that there will be several entries from there.

The Harley-Davidson, Indian and Excelsior all have several entries and the races should be among the best ever held in Southern California. The track is in fine shape.

There should be a good crowd. There will be plenty of protection for spectators in case of accidents. Neat little programs will tell all about the races which will be called at 2 p. m. sharp.

Adrianoite Burning

SOFIA, Nov. 27.—The besieged city of Adrianoite is burning, according to reports received here. Despite the progress of peace negotiations continuous fighting in the vicinity is reported. Bulgarian scouts are reported to have entered the city, firing it at various places. The government is trying to verify the reports. According to unofficial dispatches the Turks are making little effort to defend or stop the conflagration. Turkish ranks are weakened by disease and hunger. Government officials here profess to discredit the fire report, saying that the Bulgars would prefer to save the city intact and occupy it.

Transports on Black Sea

BUDAPEST, Nov. 27.—Sebastopol dispatches say transports are assembling in the Black Sea to move the troops.

Caused Bourse Flurry

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Reports of partial mobilization of troops on the frontier has caused a flurry on the Bourse. The Patrie, a leading newspaper, says the reports were caused by the chief gendarmes on the frontier erroneously summoning reservists last night. He later released them.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS WERE SHAKY LAST EVENING

CHILD SLAVERY IN FACTORIES IS GRAPHICALLY DESCRIBED

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Miss Mary Elizabeth Chamberlain of New York, a Vassar college girl of the class of 1909, gave a delegation of thirty or more owners and managers of upstate canneries a jolt today when she went on the stand before the state factory investigating commission and testified as to conditions in certain vegetable canneries of the state. The canners craned their necks to get a good look at Miss Chamberlain when she calmly told how she had been engaged by the factory commission as a private detective and investigator to make a personal tour of the canneries and ascertain for the use of the commission if reports of hardships practiced on children and of flagrant violations of the labor law are well founded.

Miss Chamberlain told the commission that she went from one cannery to another "looking for a job" and of working at various establishments.

Children of Four Employed

Miss Chamberlain had a diary of her experiences in the canning sheds and factories. From personal observation, she said, she discovered that children ranging in ages from four years up had been employed "snipping" beans, husking corn or sorting peas or beans. During the busy season in the canneries Miss Chamberlain said the youngsters worked regularly from 4 a. m. until 10 p. m., and some times until midnight, and she ventured the suggestion that the people of this state would be appalled if they were to see the children on cool mornings wrapped up in blankets, at work in the canning sheds, scarcely awake.

"Some of the children would fall asleep; others would cry and want to quit work, but I have seen them compelled by their parents to stay at their work. Happily enough, the parents were not Americans; most of the compulsory work was at the hands of foreigners, the American brothers being more considerate of their offspring.

Starts Work at 3 A. M.

"One little fellow, 'Little Jack,' I called him, told me one morning he had been pulled out of bed at 3 o'clock and he had been up until 12 the night before."

"Little Jack" had worked one day from 4 a. m. until 11 p. m. and had made $1.40. Miss Chamberlain told the commission that the owner of one cannery insisted that children were not employed as early as 4 a. m., but that she awakened in her boarding place at 3 a. m. one morning and saw a parade of mothers and children and baby carriages making for the cannery.

When the factory commission made its inspection of the canneries last summer, Miss Chamberlain said, the news of the visit of the investigators went from one cannery to another ahead of the commission, with the result the bosses hurried the children out of the plants.

Miss Chamberlain said she slaved with other girls in the canneries for 10 cents an hour, often for fifteen or sixteen hours a day, and lived in crowded apartments with the cannery toilers.

Zenas L. Potter, another investigator of the commission, submitted a long report on conditions in the canneries, and his statement that children and women were worked excessive hours was supported by others. At times the women worked 119 hours a week, he said.

AUSTIN'S LECTURE GIVEN AT ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, Nov. 27.—Prof. Lloyd B. Austin of the Los Angeles Young Men's Christian Association entertained several hundred people in the Fremont school Monday evening, with his "Eye Journey" through the Yellowstone National Park. Mr. Austin is a very easy and pleasant talker, and, with his beautifully colored slides, carries everyone in the audience along with him, as he hikes along through the great park seeing the wonders that are nowhere else to be found. He starts his lecture just where he started from when he made the trip, a little over a year ago and goes into every detail of the trip in a most pleasing manner. By a series of beautiful slides he makes the whole round trip of about 160 miles so vividly that nearly everyone present felt as though they were actually in the park at the time.

The lecture was for the benefit of the automobile fund of the Y. M. C. A. of this county. Mr. R. J. Hamilton spoke for several moments on what the Y. M. C. A. and the Triangle League of this county were doing now and how much more good might be done if he had an automobile to work with. At the conclusion of his remarks he introduced Mr. Austin, who then began with his entertainment.

Prof. Austin also spoke to the students of the high school at 1 o'clock on the subject of mountain climbing. This was especially interesting to the seniors, who are planning to climb Mount Wilson during the holidays.

WOULD PROTECT MELONS Imperial Cantaloupe Growers Want Tariff to Aid in Competing With Mexico

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—The cantaloupe growers of Imperial Valley, which last season produced 2700 carloads from 5500 acres, want their output protected from Mexican rivals by tariff, just as the citrus products are. This announcement was made yesterday and it is probable that concentrated action will be taken.

It was said that the last crop brought from 60 cents to $1.07 a crate. Improper distribution, it is declared, was the cause of low prices. The growers now are asking for an advance of 80 cents a crate. A 40-cent advance has been made and refused, it is declared.

NEW YORK'S DEBT BIGGER THAN THAT OF UNITED STATES

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The public debt of New York city is now greater than the national debt of the whole United States, according to figures just compiled here by the merchants' association. Rather Knickerbocker now owes $1,037,000,000, or a few million dollars more than the sum for which Uncle Sam is liable, thus making the city the first billion dollar debt municipality in the country.

A PERSISTENT ABBE.

Romance of Mountain Road Building in the Pyrenees.

G. L. Freeston in "The Fables of the Pyrenees" quotes the story of Felix Armand, cure of St. Martin-Lys, who pierced a road through the magnificent gorge de Pierre-Lys in order to bring prosperity to his poverty stricken village. The cure himself marked out the route, "hanging like a spider from the end of a rope over the awful precipices of the Pierre-Lys. After five years' incessant toil the workmen reached the huge mass of rock which blocks the gorge near Belvianes." Still he bravely incited his parishioners to persevere until in 1781 the tunnel was pierced which still bears the name of "Le Trou du Cure." The revolution stopped the work, but after the reign of terror the cure set to work anew.

"A pity the man should be a priest," said Napoleon when he heard of Armand's heroic efforts. "I would have made him a general in my army."

The cure's personal bravery was great. Once when a mine was about to explode a muleteer was seen riding round a corner. The priest instantly sprang out and extinguished a slow match just at its last inch. Armand was made an abbe, but he declined to leave his flock and was buried at St. Martin-Lys with the cross of the Legion of Honor on his breast.

LEGENDS ABOUT DEW.

Curious Beliefs as to Its Origin and Varied Powers.

In many places dew is looked upon as tears of the angels and of the souls in purgatory shed on account of the sins of human beings upon earth, and dew is collected to be used to cure certain diseases, especially those of the eyes, freckles, baldness, cramps, open wounds and cuts, rheumatism, skin diseases, burns, etc.

The virtues of dew as a beauty wash are also well known, remarks the Journal of Religious Psychology. One legend tells how by licking the dew off the plants on a certain morning when all the birds drink it one can learn their language.

Another folk belief is that "naked or with only their shirts on the witches at the time of the new moon collect the dew from the grass with bark leaves. By this means they deprive of their milk the cows that have been pastured on the grass, and as soon as their sleeves are full of dew they know that their pots at home are full of milk."

The Polish people of Wronowicz call the dew on which the birds are supposed to feed patasle mleko—I. e., "birds' milk."

An Example of Daring.

During the hottest fighting in the Shipka pass the leading battalion of the Russian General Dragomiroff's division recoiled before a hailstorm of Turkish bullets. The general was a very stout person and had the appearance of a peaceful German professor. But when he saw his men recoil he dismounted and walked slowly to and fro along a ridge swept by the enemy's bullets. He was a hundred yards in advance of the men, occupying the position they had abandoned. After staying there for awhile without being touched he shouted back to the battalion: "What are you doing, you geese? Did you think there was danger here? I don't find any!" The men responded with a roar of cheers, doubled up to him and charged so fiercely that the Turks were forced to retreat.

An Unexpected Conclusion.

A mistress was summoned in a London court for having dismissed a servant girl without due notice. The defendant pleaded that the servant was so voracious that she could not keep her in food. The judge after hearing the evidence inquired of the defendant: "Will four and sixpence a week keep her?" "Not nearly," replied the lady. "Will 6 shillings?" continued the judge. "No; that would not keep her," replied the defendant, feeling that in the judge's hands her case was gaining strength. "Now take care," said the judge, "and answer cautiously. Will 7 shillings?" "It takes 8," said the defendant. "Very well," said the judge. "Then you must pay her 8 shillings a week as board wages for one month."—London Mail.

Good Intentions.

"I do my best," said Mr. Clumzie, "to scatter sunshine and encourage a spirit of patience and cheerfulness, but somehow I always go wrong."

"What has happened?"

"I met a friend who looked a little gloomy, so I said to him: 'Cheer up! Nothing is as bad as it might be. Every cloud has a silver lining, and you only make trouble worse by thinking about it.'"

"Didn't he respond?"

"No. He simply said: 'Don't bother me. I've got the toothache.'"—Washington Star.

Haradity.

"Cute little cuss," said Slabbeide, gazing at Hawkins' baby, "but why the dickens do you suppose he's trying to get his toes into his mouth all the time?"

"Takes after me," said Hawkins. "He's trying to make both ends meet."—Harper's.

Explaining It.

"There is such a queer smell after the automobiles here besides the gasoline."

"I guess it must come from the road scorching."—Exchange.

KATHRYN'S CHRISTMAS STORY

by DAISY WRIGHT FIELD

"ONE, two, three, four, five, six, seven," Kathryn counted twice on her slim brown fingers, and each time she sighed a doleful sigh. "Seven unlooked for guests coming to eat Christmas dinner with us and not a sign of any Christmas dinner or of the where-withal to procure it. There isn't a thing but bacon and potatoes and turnips in the house unless it is an onion or two."

"You forget the squash, Kathryn," mildly interposed her brother Tom, with mock serious visage and dancing eyes.

Kathryn, fresh from boarding school, had attempted an elaborate and ultra-scientific garden the summer before with tangible results in the form of a single well grown squash, drought, ill management and various pests having played havoc with the other things.

Kathryn's dreams of a tidy income from the sale of fresh vegetables and of a possible prize at the fall fair vanished into thin air. But the squash was tenderly borne to the cellar by Tom and carefully guarded as a memento of Kathryn's brave if futile attempt to stave off the evil day when the dreaded mortgage, like a dark bird of prey, should swoop down and carry off the little home.

Kathryn was considered a very clever girl at boarding school and by all her legion friends at home. She could paint strange birds that a naturalist would have been at a loss to classify and flowers unknown to the science of botany, do fancy sewing and marvelous embroidery and write charming verse, though, alas, the editors were surprisingly obtuse to the latter fact! Besides which she was able to talk volubly in French and could rattle off some lively two steps and schottisches on the piano if she had possessed such an instrument.

But none of these accomplishments were exchangeable for coin of the realm in the little country village on the outskirts of which they lived, and as they had only Tom's meager salary as a grocer's clerk to fall back on, it soon came to pass that shabby garments and the plainest of plain fare were the order of the day, in their household. Kathryn's fingers itched to help her brother bear the burden of support. She longed to add her mite to the family income, but as yet had not struck her "niche." She did not know quite enough to teach, and there was no vacancy in either of the two village dry goods stores.

On this Christmas eve there was less than a dollar in the house, and besides herself, her mother and Tom, they had received notice that seven guests would be with them for the Christmas holiday—distant relatives, who had standing invitations to "come up to our house for Christmas, sometime," and who by a coincidence had chosen the same date to accept the invitation. There was Aunt Mattie and her twin boys, Cousin Wilbur and his new wife, Aunt Sue and Uncle Hiram—quite a tableful at any time, and certainly an enormous crowd to be provided with Christmas dainties with a fund of less than a dollar.

It began to look as if they must break their rigid rule never to go in debt, even for the necessities of life, and ask the village grocer to trust them, a very humiliating alternative.

After Tom's brilliant remark, which she had been expected to take as a rarely humorous hit, Kathryn gazed at him admiringly for a moment.

"You think you're funny, Tom Wrennet, but you're not," she told him. "Squash pie will be a grateful addition to our boiled potatoes and turnips and onions and other Christmas dainties. Surely no one can say that I blistered my fingers and freckled my nose in vain over that garden, since its one and lonely product is to feed the Christmas guest."

"Never mind, children," broke in their mother, laying down the letter that had just come from Aunt Mattie, announcing the arrival on the morning train of herself and her twin boys, "we can at least do our best to make our guests feel at home and try to enjoy their visit. It is hard not to be able to entertain them as they have us in the past, but what can't be cured, you know, must be endured."

"Mother's a brick!" exclaimed impulsive Tom. "And I move that we tender her a vote of thanks for her little Christmas speech." Whereupon he gave her a rousing kiss and a bear hug and went out into the yard and down into the cellar after the squash.

When he came up from the depths of the darksome cellar to where Kathryn stood expectantly waiting, he dropped limply on to an upturned box near by and fanned himself weakly with his old hat. He opened his mouth twice in a vain and apparently desperate attempt to speak and then subsided into silence.

"Tom Wrennet," demanded his sister, giving him an impatient shake, "drop your nonsense and speak. What's the matter?"

"It's—it's gone!" gasped Tom, quite as if "it" had been a diamond necklace instead of a warty and plebeian vegetable.

"Gone?" echoed his sister incredulously. "Who would steal a squash? Light the lantern and come with me. It is never worth while to waste time sending little boys on errands," with a magnificent disregard of the fact that Tom was three years her senior.

Tom obediently procured the lantern from the woodshed, and together they explored the cellar. She had spent a lot of time there when she had first returned from boarding school digging about with the vain hope of locating grandfather Kane's money. He had come to make his home with them a few weeks previous to his death from old age only the year before, and once they had caught him playing with a handful of gold pieces as a child would amuse itself with a lot of pebbles. He had quickly hidden them from sight, however, with his nervous, childish laugh, and though he sometimes babbled of his "treasure" and his "fortune" no one ever saw them again.

Once Kathryn had surprised him coming out of the cellar with a shovel in his hand, the damp earth still clinging to it, and he had slipped away guiltily. After his death she remembered the incident and surmised that he had buried his money in there for safe keeping. It could not be much, of course, not more than $100 or so, but that would be a fortune to them in their present straitened circumstances, and she felt it no wrong to the dead man, who had been but little more than a child, to unearth the money and put it to good use, for it did no one any good in its hiding place.

But months of vain searching had dispelled the hope of ever finding it. If it had been concealed there, and now she gazed a little disdainfully at the deep holes and heaps of dirt which marked her former efforts. Suddenly she underwent a revulsion of feeling. The little excavations and corresponding mounds of earth seemed to her overwrought mind symbolical of her constant effort and constant failure to be of use to herself or those she loved.

"Oh, Tom!" she moaned, burying her face in his coat sleeve and trying to smother her sobs. "I wish I could do something—anything—to help you. It's a shame you and Betty have to put off your wedding just because you have us to take care of, and me young and strong. Just as soon as Christmas is over I am going to try to get a place to do common housework. I just can't stand for you to have to bear all the burden."

"Hush, little sister!" Tom drew her close, with big brotherly sympathy. "It hasn't quite come to that yet, and you mustn't think of leaving home. You are not strong enough for such work."

Drying her eyes as best she could she began looking around for the squash. She found it at last—it had only rolled into one of the holes that she had dug near the wall. Tom held the lantern near and she pulled it out of the hole, in doing which she dislodged the earth from the wall above and down came a rain of damp dirt. With it came a small glass jar which had evidently been imbedded in the wall.

With a wild cry Kathryn seized it and held it up to the light of the lantern.

"Money!" she gasped. "Gold pieces and greenbacks. Grandfather's fortune, Tom! Come upstairs, quick! Never mind the squash!"

A moment later she poured the money into her astonished mother's lap and was counting it over, trembling with joy and excitement.

"One, two, three, four, five, six, seven," she counted as she had done earlier in the evening, only this time there was no frown on her face. "Seven hundred dollars—a hundred for each guest! Surely that ought to feed 'em! Was there ever such luck? Why, Tom, it will pay the mortgage and give you a nest egg in the bank, and we can have mince pie, and now you can marry Betty, and we can have her to dinner tomorrow and a big fat turkey, and we won't have to go in debt, and we'll stuff the turkey with oysters and put a new carpet in Aunt Mattie's room, 'cause the old one's disgraceful, and have plum pudding and cranberry sauce!"

And then she collapsed for want of breath and hid her face on Tom's shoulder and burst into tears. But a moment later she looked up to smile triumphantly through her tears and say:

"There, now, Tom Wrennet! What if I hadn't raised that squash?"

PROMPT MURDER TRIALS

The prompt conviction of five defendants in the Rosenthal murder trials in New York should be a lesson in swift justice for every court in the land.

For every hundred murders in the United States, only one murderer receives the full punishment of the law. In a recent year Chicago had 168 murders, and but one legal execution. Under these circumstances, the profession of gunman has seemed a reasonably safe and substantial occupation.

There was an imperious public demand that these men be quickly caught and that justice be promptly handed out. Yet hundreds of other murders occur, in New York and elsewhere, that are accepted as merely a necessary incident of life's passing shows. No red tape is cut, no legal technicalities are submerged, by the indolent action of public opinion.

It goes to show that crime or disaster must have a spectacular and theatrical quality to arouse public feeling. If 100 people are killed in a railroad accident, the newspapers print 144 point headlines, and orators pound the dust from the pulpits. If 100,000 people are killed by preventable tuberculosis, the agitation is confined to paid secretaries of charitable societies.

There was one trial a few years ago, in which an indictment was set aside because it named a certain date when the crime was alleged to have taken place. The date was correct. But the indictment ought to have said: "On or about a certain date," instead of naming it directly. With the hands of justice so tied, is it any wonder that the lyncher feels that he is the only effective protection for life, property, and honor?

Sometimes it takes a venire of hundreds of men to get a jury of twelve for a murder case. Conscientious citizens wriggle out of the obligation by elusive answers that lead to their rejection for the panel.

The business man who plays sick when his name is called for jury work has his share in the American homicide record, as well as the creature who pulls the gun or thrusts the knife.

CHRISTMAS SWAPPING

Mrs. August Belmont, Miss Anne Morgan, and other New York women have organized a "Society for the prevention of useless giving." They say Christmas has become a burden on working girls and others.

The writer is personally acquainted with a woman whose regular practice it is to make about 150 individual gifts for Christmas. She is wealthy and can probably afford it. But she has frail health, and her spare moments for a month are jammed by the selection of these presents.

After it was all over last year, she said she awoke in the middle of the night with the reflection that she gave a volume of Browning's complex poetry to a friend who is quite domestic, and who once told her that it was with difficulty that she could understand the simple verses of Longfellow.

A woman wrote to a leading magazine, in 1910, that she had just received her eighteenth pennywise. She did not dislike pennywise, but she felt it necessary to pass these on to some other friends. A complicated system of book-keeping was needed to prevent returns. Furthermore, she felt it necessary to buy eighteen pocket handkerchiefs for the eighteen pennywise givers.

The real trouble with the modern Christmas lies with those who feel that an equivalent money return must thus be made. If the woman who receives a diamond, given out of the abundance of the wealthy friend, would only feel comfortable in sending back a box of fudge, if that is all she can give, or even a Christmas Card if she has money and time for nothing more, Christmas would be a lovely expression of spontaneous sentiment.

People in whom the swapping tradition is ingrained need to reflect carefully before they establish a habit which is practically signing an agreement to pay a life annuity—that is, an agreement to trade one Christmas gift of equal value until death do us part.

What one agency reports as a victory another calls a crushing defeat. As to the tongue-breaking names, nobody expects a civilized Anglo-Saxon to be able to pronounce them properly.

President Taft may be depended on to maintain always a serene disposition. But the chances are that he feels considerable sympathy for the disappointment suffered by Mr. Hilles.

Oscar Underwood isn't likely to accept an obscure job in the cabinet. The lesson that it is possible for a Southern man to be elected president hasn't been entirely lost on him.

Mr. McCombs calls the attention of the other campaign managers to the fact that his predictions did not shrink in the wash.

Thus, Mr. Bryan, is the immortal ratio vindicated—sixteen years of defeat to one of victory.

Speaking of football, we have entered the era of the "forward pass" in politics.

MILES OF RAISINS MAKING THE NAME OF ONTARIO FAMOUS

ONTARIO, Nov. 27.—Three hundred and twenty-seven miles of raisins is one of the advertising stunts for Ontario. Nearly everywhere raisins are measured by the pound. Some are measured by the pint or quart, but around Ontario the distinction of measuring raisins by the mile is a common custom.

Of course the 327 miles of raisins are not all in one store or warehouse, nor is the habit of any single household to order a mile of raisins. But lots of grape ranchers had miles and miles of raisins drying, which they sold for a handsome profit.

Making raisins is easy and profitable. Between every fourth row of vines through the vineyards a strip of cheesecloth six feet wide is laid on the ground. The grapes are then picked from the vines and laid out on the cloth. The sun does the rest. In a couple of weeks wagons are brought around, and the raisins are loaded in and carted off to market. It is these long rows of drying raisins, from five to six feet wide and from six inches to a foot deep, that make Ontario famous for selling the product by the mile. By actual count there are 327 miles of these rows, and they fill many cars.

TAFT WILL HELP BUILD UP PARTY BUT NOT AS LEADER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—President Taft quietly has informed friends that no matter how active his participation in a reorganization of the Republican party may be, he is not to be regarded or publicly referred to in political speeches as a possible candidate of the party in 1916.

The president intends to do all in his power to help rejuvenate the party, and probably will make many political speeches before March 4 and after he re-enters private life, but according to close friends, he is in the fight to continue the party and to try to return it to power as a man who has been its standard bearer for four years and not as a man seeking a renomination four years hence.

LOS ANGELES NOW HAS LOW-STEP CAR, CENTER ENTRANCE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—The Los Angeles railway yesterday put a new center entrance low step car in service on the University and Central avenue line. If it proves a success others will be built and the system equipped with the new type of car. The car is four feet longer than the pay-as-you-enter car and seats fifty-two persons.

Each car has open section ends, and the conductor handles the entrance and exit gates instead of the motorman. This permits the motorman to give full attention to operating the car.

The entrance is in the center, and the exits on each side of the entrance. Gates prevent passengers from entering or leaving the car while in motion, while the fact that the open sections of the car are at each end is expected to induce the passengers to go to the ends in order to keep the entrance and exits free.

GRAND JURY PROBE OF LLOYD CASE WAS ENDED YESTERDAY

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—Grand jury investigation of the events which preceded the arrest of F. W. Lloyd, the Eddie case witness, was practically concluded yesterday when former assistant City Prosecutor Choate refused to testify concerning activity in the case. Former secretary to Mayor Alexander, George Baker Anderson, also refused to testify. Next Wednesday the grand jurors will meet again and at that time it is believed indictments will be returned or a caustic report made upon actions of several politicians involved by the evidence.

FOUR CANDIDATES FOR SPEAKER OF NEXT ASSEMBLY

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—Thus far there are four tentative candidates in the field for speaker of the assembly in the coming legislature, with the probability that the contest finally will resolve itself into a choice between the two leading candidates. The two who appear to have the strongest support are Representatives Sutherland of Fresno and Benedict of Los Angeles. Representatives Young of Berkeley and Bennett of Santa Clara have their lightning rods in position, but neither, at present at least, has any very substantial backing.

BEAUMONT WINS TRADE WITH FINE QUALITY FRUIT

BEAUMONT, Nov. 27.—Since August to the present time almost daily shipments of peaches and grapes have been made from Beaumont to the Imperial Valley and to the leading towns in Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, going in these many markets in competition with carload shipments from Fresno, Los Angeles and other points which place their products in these markets at a freight expense of 1 1/2 cents per pound where Beaumont fruit shipped by express to same points costs 2 1/2 to 3 cents a pound and yet, Beaumont peaches and grapes, by reason of their superior quality consequent to being mountain grown, has out-sold the other products bringing good net returns.

AN ARTESIA BEET GROWER HOLDER OF WORLD'S RECORD

ARTESIA, Nov. 27.—George C. Buehn holds the world's record for raising sugar beets on his ranch northwest of town. A measured piece of ground containing one and one-quarter acres yielded 83,330 pounds of beets, or an average of 33 1-3 tons per acre. Twenty acres yielded 423 tons, or an average of 21.15 tons per acre. Fifteen acres yielded 312 tons, or 20.8 tons per acre, and the average test for this field was 20.3 per cent, or $6.44 per ton, which would equal $142.27 per acre.

School Authorities are Pleased With Putting Spanish Children in Classes

New Grammar School is Named Spurgeon After Founder of Santa Ana

The Santa Ana school authorities are gathering together at Washington school all the Spanish pupils of the various schools, and have found that in that way more progress can be made in the education of those pupils. Mrs. Clark has been teaching a class of about twenty-five, and now another class of about thirty is being organized, the pupils coming from the West Fifth street school and McKinley school. The school board last night elected Mrs. Tyerman as teacher of the new class.

The new system has many advantages. The progress made by the children is reported to be faster than if they were in classes where close attention could not be given to the lack of understanding of the English language.

An arrangement has been made whereby the Spanish children of Washington school are served with a hot meal at noon. This meal is prepared by the pupils of the Domestic Science department. The meal generally consists of soup or some other dish. The children help to pay for these meals when their parents are able, otherwise they are served free. The receipts last month came within thirty cents of paying for the meals.

Elected Assistant
Miss Shoemaker was last night elected an assistant in the Domestic Science department. Miss Shoemaker has been doing excellent work as an assistant without pay, having started in the department as a student, and with the increase of the enrollment of the department her duties have grown to such an extent that it was deemed advisable to establish the position of assistant, and Miss Shoemaker was given the position.

Named It Spurgeon
The board of education last night gave a name to the new grammar school being erected in the south part of town. It was decided to name the school after Santa Ana's founder, William H. Spurgeon.

Instructions were given for completing the retaining wall on the east side of Sycamore street at Washington school.

Constable C. E. Jackson was appointed truant officer.

SIX MONTHS JAIL PENALTY

Two Mexican Shop-Lifters
Pleaded Guilty and are Sent to the County Bastile

Perjury Charge Against Newly Married Man Dismissed by Justice Cox Today

Two Mexican shop-lifters who stole a hat from Miss O'Donnell's millinery shop were today given six months in jail. They gave their names as Juan Perez and Jose Molino. Guilty pleas were entered against them.

The officers had two cases against them. On Nov. 15 they were watched, and were seen to enter Miss O'Donnell's store and also the Santa Ana Crock and Suit Store on East Fourth street. At the latter place, while one of them talked to a clerk, the other secreted a dress under his bib overalls, and got away with the stolen property. The hat and the dress were recovered in the room occupied by the two men.

Today Deputy Sheriff Law went to the suit and cloak house and told the proprietor that the district attorney wanted him to go to the courthouse and swear to a complaint against the Mexican. The proprietor replied that under no circumstances would he swear to such a complaint; that all he wanted was to get the dress back.

When this attitude was reported at the courthouse there was considerable indignation, for the officers felt that when they take the trouble and risk to catch a criminal they should get the support of the offended person. Justice Cox immediately made an order that the dress be kept as an evidence until the terms of the two Mexicans are up, at which time one of the officers will probably swear to a complaint and the proprietor or clerk of the store will be subpoenaed as a witness and made to testify whether he will or not.

De Rosa Goes Free
This morning on the request of the district attorney the charge of perjury against Albert I. De Rosa of Los Angeles was dismissed. De Rosa was accused by his father-in-law, Andrew Montana, with having perjured himself in getting a marriage license to marry Annie Montana, whom De Rosa said was 21, while the father maintained she was but 16. The district attorney found that there was not sufficient evidence to constitute perjury, De Rosa having maintained that he believed the girl to be of age. The girl was in court today and had the appearance of being 21 years old.

All but $25,000 of the remainder is left to the widow, who lives at Tustin. Given a Chance
This morning Judge West gave a fatherly lecture to W. C. Lackey, a youth who passed a worthless $2 check on John Law of Orange. The judge told Lackey that he thought he (Lackey) had had sufficient experience to cause him to keep in the straight and narrow path, and to give Lackey a chance to make good he would suspend sentence for five years.

Ernest Bryson, a colored man from Fullerton, was arraigned today on a charge of attacking Bernard H. Davis of Fullerton with a beer bottle, and Attorney H. V. Weisel of Anaheim was appointed by Judge West to defend Bryson. Bryson, while intoxicated, became enraged after an automobile in which he rode struck Davis's buggy, and struck Davis with a bottle.

A. were doing in the county. Mr. Hamilton said that to be able to crary on the work more satisfactorily the committee must have an automobile, and he was glad to say that they had already half the money subscribed for the machine.

The lecture was very instructive and entertaining, and the colored views were very beautiful. Prof. Austin described the Upper and Lower geyser basins showing some splendid colored views of the "Old Faithful" geyser, so named because it spouts a certain time and never fails. There were several pretty views of the famous hotels of the park which were indeed a credit to "Uncle Sam," one of the most quaint and picturesque being the "Old Faithful" Inn, with its great dining hall, fireplace and big dial clock. The magnificent scenery of the Grand Canyon was next shown, and the different colors of the rocks were indeed beautiful, and as the lecturer said, it must be seen to be appreciated. The views of the Yellowstone River which is called "The Grand Canyon maker" were thrown on the screen and as this river winds in and out among the various colored rocks, the coloring effect is very beautiful. The water appears to have a very deep green color which contrasts with the colors of the perpendicular cliffs on each side. The sunset in this canyon is one of the sights of the world.

The lecturer showed pictures of the different waterfalls of the park and also some of Yosemite, all being colored wonderfully. He also contrasted the "Grand Canyon" of the Yellowstone with the "Grand Canyon" of Arizona.

Every person in the audience was well satisfied with the entertainment and the county committee can be congratulated on securing Prof. Austin to give such an entertaining and instructive lecture in Santa Ana.

COMMITTEES TO HELP IN THE ASSESSMENTS

Mass Meeting at Anaheim Had Presentation of Interesting Figures by Sleeper and Comparisons by Des Granges

A mass meeting held at Odd Fellows Hall, Anaheim, yesterday and attended by between seventy-five and 100 residents of the north end of the county resulted in the passing of a resolution, suggested by County Assessor James Sleeper, asking the chambers of commerce of Fullerton, Anaheim, Placentia and Orange to appoint committees of three each to assist the county assessor in equalizing assessments in those sections.

The mass meeting was called by a committee, A. A. Mills, S. S. Twombly and Arthur Staley. The call stated the purpose of the meeting to be to "talk over the enormous and unequal raise in taxes."

The meeting was called to order by A. A. Mills, who suggested A. Pierotti as chairman. Pierotti said that the meeting was for the purpose of "seeing if we have been assessed properly."

Mills stated that a committee had been appointed to make maps and a report showing alleged unequal assessments in Tustin and Placentia districts.

At this point County Assessor James Sleeper, who was present, asked to be allowed to make a statement, as he understood that he was to be the target.

"I want to show you that a large share of the increase in taxes is due to the fact that you have voted school bonds and are paying special taxes for schools," said Sleeper. "Many of you do not know that the big increase of taxes is due to schools."

Mills here stated that the purpose was not to consider the increase of taxes, but to consider unequal assessments. Sleeper said that since he was not a public speaker he had prepared a written statement.

He then read the following statement:

Sleeper said: "It seems from the call that I was made for this meeting that I am to be made the goat, and before you pass judgment on my official acts while assessor of this county, I ask for a fair trial and want a few minutes of your time to give you facts and figures of what I have done while assessor of this county, at the end of which I will retire and leave you to be the judge of whether I have given all the taxpayers a square deal in all parts of the county where I have been able to equalize valuations."

"The first year in office, as you know, I had little time in which to do much, but since the first assessment I have placed personal value in all road districts except Fullerton, part of Anaheim, Orange and Olive, and my map and books are open to any taxpayer who wishes to examine his or his neighbor's assessment. It was a physical impossibility to get over all the districts in the time which I had, but before next March I will have equalized every district in the county and to the satisfaction of a large majority of the people, I hope. From the districts I have been over I have had very little complaint in regard to the values compared with their neighbors."

"Some people think I have the fixing of the tax and the handing out of all the county money, but you would think differently if you had seen my pleading with the supervisors to lower the tax rate this year after the auditor had given out to the papers of the county the fact that he had been instructed by three of the supervisors to figure the rate the same as last year, and by my efforts finally got them to cut the rate to $1.45, which is five cents lower than last year, and means a saving to the taxpayers of something like $19,000. You will see, this next year, that your values on your property will be about the same, but you will also note the fact that your taxes will be a great deal higher and you might as well prepare for it. If you have good schools, good roads and other improvements you must expect to pay for them.

"I have a list of some of the largest taxpayers of the county, and with your permission, will read you the taxes paid by them in 1910, and also 1912. I would like to call your attention to the fact that in 1911 all public utility corporations were taken out of my hands and assessed by the State Board of Equalization, the counties receiving no revenue from them whatever. After I have given you this information in regard to taxes and assessments I extend an invitation to any taxpayer or committee to come to my office and look into any assessment we have on our books."

The assessor then read figures as shown in the following table:

	1910	1912
Irvine Co.	$24,217.73	$ 38,394.13
Murphy Oil Co. .	2,552.59	12,925.00
Union Oil Co. . .	8,629.01	32,375.96
Indust'l Oil Co. .	1,503.55	3,805.35
Petroleum Co. . .	2,409.38	6,285.44
Olinda Land Co. .	1,259.38	4,254.14
Columbia Oil Co. .	619.48	1,818.80
Orange Oil Co. . .	182.88	994.86
Puente Oil Co. . .	658.28	1,406.14
Menges Oil Co. . .	123.50	1,026.17
Pico Oil Co. . . .	42.25	1,450.28
Brea Canyon Co. .	1,083.89	3,109.06
Graham-Loftus . .	2,572.25	14,294.59
Fullerton Oil . . .	915.02	7,229.68
Stearns Ranch . .	1,080.50	3,490.06
	$47,849.69	$139,459.66

Fifteen corporations have had taxes increased in two years $91,609.97.

Sleeper stated that the increase in taxes in the Anaheim, Fullerton and Placentia districts is largely due to school bonds and special taxes. He took five taxpayers of the north end of the county and showed this as follows:

A. A. Mills, 1910—Total value, $1210. School tax @ $.73, $8.32; state and county tax @ $1.60, $19.36. Total, $27.68. In 1912—Total value, $2135. School tax @ $1.60, $34.16; state and county tax @ $1.45, $30.96. Total, $65.12.

S. S. Twombly, 1910—Total value, $3265. School tax @ $.68, $22.20; state and county, @ $1.20, $39.18; Fullerton city, @ $1.09, $35.58. Total, $96.96. In 1912—Total value, $4485. Sleeper said that in 1910 the county collected for taxes exclusive of schools, $376,518.70; for schools, $318,403.97. In 1912 the schools went ahead with a total of $485,782.56 for schools to $411,908.33 for other purposes than schools.

"Just to show you that big land owners are paying a larger proportion of the county's taxes than ever before," said Sleeper, "I present the following, showing taxes paid by some of them in 1910 and in 1912."

The following comparisons were made:

	1910	1912
Mary B. Norris . .	$1,405.23	$2,475.37
Bolsa Land Co. . .	1,602.02	3,274.95

Jas. McFadden . . .	1,801.87	3,069.27
F. W. & C. Emery .	1,619.80	4,451.75

Sleeper said that in 1910 the assessor's office collected $14,038.68 in personal taxes and in 1912 it collected $29,508.89.

"I have to stand between the people of this county and the state board," said Sleeper. "Some of the big corporations of this state have been on my books gathering statistics, as they are doing all over the state. They expect to go before the next legislature in an effort to show that the corporations are paying more taxes than the other property owners, in proportion to values."

"All I ask is that you do not condemn me until I have a chance to show over your territory personally. I could not cover the whole county last year." Sleeper was asked if it is true that the P. E. assessment in Orange County is only half per mile what it is in Los Angeles.

"It was, when I took office," said Sleeper, "but it is not now. I raised the P. E. from $7500 a mile to $15,000, the same as in Los Angeles."

Sleeper read a letter received by him from G. W. Finch of Fullerton in which Finch said his five acres was assessed at $250 an acre while neighbors on both sides had less than half. Finch stated he got his information from John Des Granges, one of those interested in the investigation. Sleeper said Des Granges had been given free access to his books.

"You were given all the courtesy possible," Mr. Des Granges, said Sleeper. "Now, before starting a report like that against me, why did you not ask about that property? The facts are these: Finch's property is all level. Some of his neighbor's lies above the ditch, and an average value had to be taken. But the point I make is that both of Finch's neighbors have mineral rights leases. I assessed those mineral rights to the oil companies. Having taken that value, which was also in Finch's land but not leased, I had to reduce it from their land."

Here occurred a discussion of the mineral rights matter. Sleeper saying until this last year mineral rights had never been assessed. Harry Hale made careful inquiry. Sleeper said that in his opinion a lease worth paying a monthly rental for, even though no oil was drilled for, was worth assessing.

E. S. Gregory, who was Sleeper's field deputy in the Fullerton-Placentia district, was called on to explain why some of the property was raised to $300 an acre while some other was not raised. John Des Granges said that there were three pieces of land of equal value. Chapman was assessed at $304, Des Granges at $306 and Richardson at $250.

"Hitherto the maximum assessed valuation for orange lands in this county was $250," said Gregory. "I worked this territory alone. Near the end of the period Sleeper found that I was maintaining the old maximum of $250 an acre. He said that in the Tustin district he had made $300 the maximum, and Placentia maximum should be the same. So a blanket raise was made in the office, and in the bulk of the work at the end of the season, Richardson was overlooked. His land should be $300."

Three maps were then thrown upon a screen with a lantern. Joseph Des Granges worked the lantern, and John Des Granges pointed out what he considered inequalities. In the Tustin map he went over two or three dozen figures. Land lying side by side had different values placed upon them. Sleeper's reply in general was that there was only one way to determine whether or not his assessment was just, and that was to examine the property itself, as he had done. Land lying side by side might vary in value greatly.

"Here is some land assessed at $300 an acre in the Tustin district," said Des Granges, "and right down here is some at less than $200."

Sleeper interrupted. "Here is Henry Adams," said he. "He lived over in that country. I'll ask him if that is not much better land there than down here."

"You are right," replied Adams.

Two maps of the Placentia and Fullerton section were then used, and Des Granges went over dozens of figures. Many of his comparisons went unchallenged. Sleeper said he could not say whether or not those were inequalities until he goes over the land, as he expects to do for the next assessment. In some instances Gregory replied that there were draws or gullies running through the land, sometimes that there was an oil lease where the mineral rights were assessed to the oil companies. In one instance he said the low assessment was due to the fact that the piece was of irregular shape. In other instances Gregory admitted an inequality. He said that in one instance he had made a mistake in his own property, having assessed it higher than the property adjoining.

The investigation proved of great interest to those who were present, many of them avowedly having come not to criticize but to be informed. A man named Elliott attacked Des Granges because of the fact that some bar-

ARMY ENGINEER TO HOLD MEETING TUESDAY FOR TALK CONCERNING HARBOR LINES

Conference Was Held in Los Angeles Yesterday With James Irvine Attending-- Meeting at City Hall

On Tuesday of next week a meeting is to be held at the city hall at Newport Beach to consider the location of the harbor lines of Newport Bay. Lieut.-Col. McKinstry has done considerable preliminary work in laying out the harbor lines, but there are a number of important matters that he wants to talk over with the people interested.

Yesterday there was a conference in Los Angeles at the office of Lieut.-Col. McKinstry. James Irvine was one of those in attendance.

One of the difficulties that the engineer has found in discussing the proposed harbor lines is the fact that there are so many varying opinions.

The following announcement concerning the meeting has been given: United States Engineer's Office, 723

Central Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal. November 26, 1912.
To Whom It May Concern:
A public hearing will be held at 9:30 a. m., Tuesday, December 3, 1912, at the City Hall, Newport Beach, Cal., for the purpose of considering the location of the proposed harbor lines for Newport Harbor, and also the extent of the improvements to be made by local interests in the harbor and at its entrance.

It is desired that all parties interested in these subjects be present at the hearing and submit their views. While oral statements will be received it is advisable that all ideas be put in writing. All papers and maps submitted should be in duplicate.

C. H. MCKINSTRY,
Lieut. Col., Corps of Engineers.

Conservation of Human Energy:

Improved modern machinery has enabled this laundry to do the housekeeper's hardest day's work at such a nominal cost, that no man can afford to allow his wife to waste her energy and perhaps injure her health, trying to do her own washing. It will convince the most skeptical.

READ MR. SCHALL'S LETTER

Santa Ana, Cal., Nov. 13, 1912.

Geo. J. Birkel Co., Los Angeles, Cal.
Gentlemen:—After careful consideration I have concluded to accept your offer to purchase my entire stock of Pianos, Player Pianos, Music Stools, Benches and Scarfs. It is, of course, a great disappointment to myself and family that we cannot carry out our plans, establishing a business here, but sickness in my family makes it absolutely necessary for me to return at once to Minnesota. It is for this reason only that I am compelled to accept your offer and act quickly—I personally selected every one of these Pianos and Player Pianos, have sold them for years in my eastern home, know how well they wear and give musical satisfaction—and in turning these instruments over to you, I wish to express my thanks for your prompt action in assisting me to hurriedly adjust my affairs and to recommend these instruments and your very excellent concern to any who may be thinking of buying a real musical instrument.

Respectfully,
(Signed) SCHALL MUSIC HOUSE.

STRUGGLED TO SAVE LIVES

Two Anaheim Boys Had a
Frightful Experience on the Mojave Desert

ANAHEIM, Nov. 27.—The two Anaheim boys, Berle Morthland and Lee Dickinson, who had a struggle for their lives on the Mojave desert a few days ago, reached Anaheim yesterday. They started out several days ago in a Buick car for a tour north through the desert via Mojave to Reno and thence to Salt Lake City, intending to go south from there through Arizona to Nogales and on to Mexico and Mexico City.

When they reached a mining camp near Otis, Cal., their tongues were swollen and they were unable to speak, and they fell to the ground after falling a man who happened to sight them while riding along a ridge. The young men have not entirely recovered from the physical and mental strain of the terrible experience. That part of the desert in which the men were lost is one of the most treacherous in all the western desert area. Except for an occasional prospector's camp there is no habitation in the expanse of sand and buttes. Trails leading from the main road are about as prominent as the main road itself and thus make the losing of one's way comparatively easy.

At this season of the year the heat is intensified by daily sand storms, which are blinding and make progress for the man on foot almost impossible, besides obliterating roads and trails under sweeping sand. Both young men displayed grit in making to safety against heavy odds and in conquering the difficult country in their path.

Porto Rico's New Wonder

From far away Porto Rico come reports of a wonderful new discovery that is believed to vastly benefit the people. Ramon T. Marchan, of Barceloneta, writes "Dr. King's New Discovery is doing splendid work here. It cured me about five times of terrible coughs and colds, also my brother a severe cold in his chest and more than 20 others, who used it on my advice. Anaheim Orange Growers
eHard Report of Secretary;
Dr. Clossen Elected

ANAHEIM, Nov. 27.—The Anaheim Fruit Association held an annual meeting today. The principal features were the re-election of President Charles Eygabroad and other officers and the hearing of the excellent report of Manager Gerald Sandilands, which was in part as follows:

"Consider the adverse shipping and marketing conditions we had to contend with the past season, most prominent being the abnormally cold weather, throughout the east and in California, resulting, especially in the latter case, in California oranges receiving perhaps the worst reputation they have ever had regarded as a whole by the buyer and the consumer. Notwithstanding this and other extraordinary developments that are familiar to all growers, prices obtained by your association, with the exception of sweets shipped in April and May were better than what was realized the year before. The Valencia market alone opened 25 cents per box better than the year previous, with excellent demand for fruit free from frost damage and desirable sizes, but on account of the extremely large deciduous crop throughout the country and the deplorable fact that much frost-damaged fruit was shipped the extremely high prices that were realized the year before in September and October were not realized this year.

"The directors of the association after much time and thought organized and started out a complete fumigating outfit, equipped with everything of the very best quality. This outfit was considered amply large enough to take care of all work offered. The work of fumigating the various orange groves was started on the night of July 26, and continued every night with the exception of Sundays since that date. We are still in the field and expect to keep busy until the end of the month. Eleven thousand, five hundred trees have been fumigated, taking each orchard in turn according to which needed attention first. The marketing of your fruit was accomplished in a very satisfactory manner throughout the Semi-Tropic Fruit Exchange, all details and returns attended to promptly and accurately."

Dr. G. W. Clossen, well known veterinary of this city, was signally honored at Los Angeles when he was elected president of the Southern California Veterinary Association.

DON'T PULL OUT THE GRAY HAIRS

A Few Applications of Simple Remedy Will Bring Back the Natural Color

"Pull out one gray hair and a dozen will take its place" is an old saying, which is, to a great extent, true, if no steps are taken to stop the cause. When gray hairs appear it is a sign that Nature needs assistance. It is Nature's call for help. Gray hair, dull, lifeless hair, or hair that is falling out, is not necessarily a sign of advancing age, for there are thousands of elderly people with perfect heads of hair without a single streak of gray.

When gray hairs come, or when the hair seems to be lifeless or dead, some good, reliable, hair-restoring treatment should be resorted to at once. Specialists say that one of the best preparations to use is the old-fashioned "sage tea" which our grandparents used. The best preparation of this kind is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of domestic sage and sulphur, scientifically compounded with later discovered hair tonics and stimulants, the whole mixture being carefully balanced and tested by experts.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It refreshes dry, parched hair, removes dandruff and gradually restores faded or gray hair to its natural color.

Don't delay another minute. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur at once and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in your hair.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.—Rowley Drug Company.

FISHER FAVORING HETCH HETCHY PLAN

Does Not Want Water Power
Tied up But Favors Giving
Supply to Frisco

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—After a cabinet meeting yesterday Secretary Fisher resumed the hearing on the question of allowing San Francisco to obtain water from Hetch Hetchy valley. The hearing will last two or three days longer.

The secretary refused to permit the city to tie up indefinitely the water power privileges to suit its convenience. He would agree to nothing that looked up the Hetch Hetchy water power, but he said he would favor giving water power free to the city of San Francisco if it was to be immediately developed for municipal purposes.

"It is to the public interest," Secretary Fisher said, "that the hydro-electric power be developed to take the place of coal, oil and other fuels. If San Francisco will agree to develop it within a reasonable period I favor that development of water power without charge to the city, despite the urgent need of revenue for the national parks."
